

Haskell libraries

Vector Ledger

Ledger contains the core data structures and functions that represent the Vector network. It is open source and can be found here.

It is mostly used by most of our Haskell libraries and packages to interact with the Vector network. We will not cover how to use it here.

Privacy policy Terms of service

2025 Apex Fusion. All rights reserved.